Program Overview

The world has changed. The way we do projects have changed. We are now in a VUCA world. How then do you lead projects in this new environment? This course provides you with a basic understanding on the current project environments and provides you with an introduction on the new leadership skills needed to face these challenges. This is a leadership course intended for project managers and business leaders alike, and blends the concepts of the PMBOK® Guide with other fields of study on Leadership.

For PMP® certified professionals, completion of this course will earn you with 8 professional development units (PDU's) in the Leadership track of PMI's talent triangle.
